

What is the Positive Behavior Intervention Support System?

PBIS is a set of strategies and systems that enables our school to:

- A) create a culture of positive behaviors
- B) reduce behavior disruptions
- C) create appropriate environments to educate all students

This approach fosters successful social behavior and encourages school staff, students, families and community members to work together to create a safe social culture with consistent expectations.

How does PBIS do this?

PBIS invests in prevention. Some of the strategies include:

- Proactive intervention—identifying the behaviors expected in all settings.
- Active teaching—teachers, students, families and community members often work together to teach and model appropriate behavior
- Ongoing recognition of appropriate behavior
- Clear, consistent consequences for inappropriate student behavior
- Additional support for students with more significant needs
- Collecting and using data to make decisions
